Many Oxford plans provide seamless in-network access to our UnitedHealthcare National Choice Plus Network when outside of the Connecticut, New York and New Jersey tri-state service area. This is great news for “snow birds,” travelers and parents of students attending an out-of-state college.

- If you're on vacation and your child gets sick and needs a doctor, you may visit one of 626,000 UnitedHealthcare Choice Plus Network physicians and health care professionals<sup>1</sup> nationwide, and your visit will be covered in-network. (Note: Emergency and urgent care are covered in-network worldwide on all Oxford plans in accordance with the terms and provisions of your certificate of coverage.)
- If your son or daughter attends an out-of-state college, our plans provide him or her with seamless in-network care through our UnitedHealthcare Choice Plus Network, just as if they were in the tri-state<sup>2</sup> area.
- If you need to visit a hospital outside of the tri-state area, you have access to 5,053 hospitals<sup>3</sup> throughout the country.

The UnitedHealth Premium® designation program gives members a user-friendly tool to search for doctors who meet or exceed evidence-based performance standards for quality of care and cost efficiency, enabling members to make their own decisions about where to get care.
